ARMY OF POLICE SENT TO SCENE

Police Force "Bonus Marchers" To Withdraw From R. R. Yard

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, O., June 4.—Surrendering to the might of 600 Cleveland policemen after a daring and dramatic stand to win free transportation to Washington by seizing control of the local freight yards here, 900 unarmored "bonus marchers" took to the highways this afternoon with a dogged determination to reach their destination. For nearly 12 hours last night and this morning, the "bonus army", comprised of war veterans from Michigan and Ohio, held a belligerent command of the local freight yards, paralyzing railroad traffic but they met their "waterloo" when Cleveland police forcibly ejected them and demanded they "move on". Helpless in the face of the stone-wall barrier of the 600 Cleveland policemen, the marchers submitted resignedly and agreed to leave town by foot. Their next stopping-off place was Pittsburgh. The marchers were expected to hitch-hike their way as best they can by way of U. S. route No. 422.

Route 422 is the Youngstown-New Castle highway.

Cleveland, June 4.—Anticipating threatened trouble, police officials today ordered the removal of 900 "bonus marchers" from the Pennsylvania freight yards which had been in virtual possession of the veterans since they sought to continue their trek to Washington last night. The veterans were forced by the 600 policemen on duty into a vacant lot near the yards, amid catcalls and shouts from the disgruntled mob of marchers.

Establish Police Lines
Chief of Police George J. Matowick personally took charge of herding the marchers into the field, where a police line was established. Matowick has been at the railroad yards since the veterans first seized control, attempting to keep the veterans in order and to arbitrate the precarious situation.

Colonel William L. Marlin of the 145th Ohio National Guard, also was at the scene of the disturbance. He was sent there by Governor George (Continued On Page Five)

Hitch Hiking Must Stop Here, Mayor Declares

Disturbances Caused By Cad-dies Results In Strenuous Order

Mayor Charles B. Mayne had before him this morning at his regular session of juvenile court, one of the boys who act as caddies at the New Castle Field Club. The mayor informed the boy before him that there had been so many complaints by residents of North Jefferson street concerning the habit of these boys making all kinds of noise while endeavoring to get a ride to the golf course. The mayor stated that he had no objection to the boys getting a ride from the public square but that in the future none would be permitted to "thumb" a ride from any point between the public square and the city line.

Those caught doing so in the future will be taken into custody and some kind of drastic punishment inflicted.

Pair Caught By Police After Chase In Streets Held For Court Trial

Held in a total bail of $5000 each, Donald Wells, of Blairsville, Pa., and William Thompson, of Campbell, O., will stand trial in the June term of criminal court on charges of breaking and entering the Haney Furniture store and carrying concealed weapons. They were held Friday afternoon by Alderman William E. Marshall following a preliminary hearing.

Not all the commonwealth witnesses were called. The ones used were William E. Trick of the Haney Furniture Company, Officers George Kennedy, Willis McMullen and Taxi Driver Earl Risley. Trick testified to being called down to the store at 2:15 a. m. May 31. Arriving there he found the combination of the safe knocked off, a window open and some hammers and chisels on the second floor. With the tools were seven rubber tips, similar to ones used on crutches.

Officers Testify
Officer Kennedy testified that he had been summoned to the Public Square on the morning mentioned, and that Officers Young, Thomas and Flinner had accompanied him. After stationing officers at various points and searching the building, Kennedy said two men ran out of the Hoyt Block next door and that (Continued on Page Two)

Terrorists Demand $30,000 From Marlene And $500 From German Friend

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, June 4.—Marlene Dietrich: You can decide for yourself. Your girl or death notice. What about it? Lindbergh notice. The palatial Beverly Hills home of Miss Dietrich, exotic and wealthy film star, resembled an armed fortress today as detectives searched in to the underworld for terrorists who threatened to kidnap and murder her six-year-old daughter, Maria. Entrances Guarded
All windows were barred, and all entrances guarded.

Several letters, similar to this one containing the words "Lindbergh notice" were received by Miss Dietrich. The "crazy quilt" threat letters were formed of words clipped from magazines, and officers sought the clipped magazines as possible clues to the identity of the plotters.

Thirteen persons, including two former servants in the Dietrich household, a discharged screen studio employee, and a beautiful woman, were grilled by District Attorney Byron Fitts.

Spitale Faces More Trouble

Underworld Negotiator Freed On One Charge But Faces Another
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 4.—More trouble loomed today for Salvatore Spitale, underworld negotiator in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case, although he was freed following his arrest by police on a charge of carrying a revolver without a permit.

Spitale was found to have a permit issued by Judge W. E. Thorpe, Greene county. Dismissing the charge, magistrate Mogileski turned the pistol over to the police department, suggesting they prosecute Spitale for perjury if his statement he was a resident of Greene county were proved false.

For some time Spitale has resided in this city. Six men arrested with Spitale in a raid on a speakeasy also were freed.

Sad Days For College Seniors

Curtis Pleads Not Guilty To "Hoax" Charge

Norfolk Shipbuilder And "Hoax" Perpetrator In Lindbergh Case Indicted

ARRAIGNMENT IS AT FLEMINGTON, N. J.
(International News Service)
FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 4.—John Hughes, Norfolk boat builder and "hoax negotiator" in the Lindbergh kidnapping, today pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with obstructing justice.

Curtis has been held in jail here since his spectacular confession that for weeks he deluded Col. Charles A. Lindbergh into believing he had contact with the kidnapers of his child.

The prisoner was arraigned before Commons Pleas Judge Adam O. Robbins. Curtis' attorney had announced previously that a not guilty plea would be entered. The whole proceeding required less than five minutes. Curtis waiving a reading of the indictment, Judge Robbins set June 27 for the trial, continuing Curtis' bail of $10,000, which has never been furnished.

Charge "Bonus Army" Communist Inspired

(International News Service)
DETROIT, June 4.—The "Bonus Army" which was delaying trains in Cleveland today and which started for Washington from Michigan was roundly condemned as "communist inspired" in a joint resolution adopted here by the four leading veterans organizations.

The organizations were the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, disabled veterans, and Spanish War Veterans.

"The Workers Ex-Service Men's League, which has been especially active in promoting the march from Detroit and which has sponsored so-called bonus meetings here," reads the resolution, "is a subsidiary organization of the communist party of America whose object is not so much to obtain payment of the bonus as it is to proselyte veterans into membership."

Seven Hours After Slugging Bus Driver, Trio Seized By Police

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., June 4.—Seven hours after robbing and slugging a bus driver, three men, charged by police with committing the crime, were seized as they slept early today. The men, Wilbur Smith, 29, George Zimmer, 25, and Albert DeGeorge, 19, are accused of robbing Henry Robson, a bus operator, of $51 late Friday night.

Police, receiving a tip that the trio were in a hide-out along a beach here, surprised the men as they slept. A loaded revolver, together with a large amount of change, was found in the hide-out, police reported.

Reichstag Is Now Dissolved

Von Papen Dictatorship Issues Notice Of Germany's Policy

POLITICAL FREEDOM WILL BE DEMANDED

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, June 4.—Assuming dictatorial powers by virtue of president Von Hindenburg's dissolution of the Reichstag, the German government served notice today that henceforth the world must expect a new, regenerated Germany freed from the shackles imposed by the World War.

In a vigorously worded platform declaration, the cabinet headed by Chancellor Franz Von Papen branded Germany's democracy of the last thirteen years as a failure, attacked Bolshevism as a "corroding poison" and announced that so far as reparations and armaments are concerned, Germany will demand equality with the best of the world. Using phraseology similar to the impassioned outbursts of Adolf Hitler in his demands for a "new Germany," the statement charged that the German people down and that the ten years had brought about a "moral degeneration" and turned the state into a charity institution.

"There must be a showdown," the manifesto read, "to see which forces are willing to build up a new Germany on the basis of the unchanging principles of Christianity." The proclamation painted a dismal picture of Germany's finances, warning that the nation's social institutions were facing bankruptcy.

Germany, the statement said, has been plunged into ruin by three factors—the Versailles treaty, the world economic crisis and "mismanagement of parliamentary democracy."

But, the manifesto declared, the new cabinet—a ministry composed chiefly of aristocrats and former office-holders of old imperial Germany—is prepared, independent of parties "to fight for the spiritual and economic recovery of the nation and the regeneration of a new Germany."

Shoots His Wife; Dies In Battle With Officers

(International News Service)
VINELAND, N. J., June 4.—John B. Tamini, 36, World War veteran, shot and killed his wife as she lay sleeping in the couple's home early today and was himself mortally wounded a few minutes later when he engaged in a pistol duel with police who besieged the Tamini home. Police believe Tamini suddenly went insane. After the wife had been killed Tamini's 10-year-old son, Maurice, dropped from a second-story window in the rear of the home to spread the alarm.

More than 100 shots were exchanged before Tamini, choking and gasping from the fumes of tear gas bombs hurled by police, stumbled from the house into the line of fire. He dropped with two slugs in his heart, killed instantly.

DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN TO SENIOR HIGH CLASS OF 242 FRIDAY NIGHT

New Program Type Is Observed In Commencement Exercises

DR. GALBREATH CHIEF SPEAKER

Prizes Are Awarded To Students During Evening's Program

Ordinary graduations come and go, but a commencement of a partly different type—an experiment as commencements go—came for the large class of young men and women who received diplomas as the senior high school's 59th commencement was observed last night.

When the ceremonies had ended in the Ben Franklin junior high school auditorium, the school's rapidly-mounting graduate roll had ascended another 242. In January the high school had given diplomas to 148.

Hear Dr. Galbreath
Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, was the commencement orator making his first appearance before a New Castle commencement audience. He spoke on a challenging subject, "Your Heritage."

Like as at other commencements, the graduates dressed in dignified cap and gown, sat on the platform or the stage just to the rear of the speakers. They were already in their places as the curtain rolled back and the program started.

The high school's orchestra had played a number, "Rosamunde Overture" by Schubert. When the curtain went back and the speakers and class appeared, the Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, rose and pronounced the invocation.

Then at the very first came the (Continued On Page Five)

CROWN MAY QUEEN ON CAMPUS TODAY

Commencement Week, the cap-sheaf of all activities of the year in Westminster College opens today. Beginning at noon today the commencement season will be in full swing, with more than an ordinary number of events scheduled to take place.

At noon today the annual Alumni Dinner took place in the United Presbyterian church. Following the dinner came election of officers. President of the Board H. H. Donaldson will introduce President R. H. Galbreath to the alumni and the new president will address that body.

At 2:30 a memorial to the memory of Dr. Robert Gracey Ferguson, the "Grand Old Man of Westminster" will be unveiled. This will take place on the Market street side of old Main Memorial, and will be in charge of the Class of 1937.

At 3:30 the class of 1929 will plant two trees in memory of Miss Margaret McFate and Howard Hamer, two members of the class who have died.

The day's events will culminate at seven o'clock with the crowning of the May queen, Miss Ruth Waggoner of Sharon who will be crowned by Miss Florence Groth, Shaker Heights, O., queen of 1931. Class reunions and fellowships. (Continued On Page Two)

ADVENTURER DIES IN RUBBER BOAT

Attempt To Sail Ocean Failure

Find Young Austrian Dead In Collapsible Rubber Boat On Ocean

TRIP WAS STARTED SEVERAL WEEKS AGO

(International News Service) LONDON, June 4.—The attempt of Theodore Helm, young Austrian adventurer, to sail alone across the ocean in a collapsible rubber boat, ended today in tragedy.

He was found dead in his flimsy craft off the coast of Arrecife in the Canary Islands by the crew of the yacht Candelaria, according to an exchange telegraph dispatch from Las Palmas.

The little boat was filled with water and was drifting aimlessly. The dispatch did not state whether Helm drowned or starved to death.

Helm left Lisbon several weeks ago, intending to sail to New York. The Portuguese authorities tried vainly to prevent him from making the attempt, realizing he faced almost certain death.

stars were reported guarded in fear of extortion-kidnaping plots, and Miss Dietrich was accompanied to the studio by an armed bodyguard.

The weird letters demanded $30,000 of Miss Dietrich, and $500 from Mrs. Egon Muller, wife of a wealthy German linen importer, and friend of Miss Dietrich. The life of Mrs. Muller's son, Harry, 4, was threatened unless the money demanded was paid.

Strange Notes

Some of the strange notes Miss Dietrich turned over to police said: "Have your car in front of my house. Put money six inches from street on rear bumper. Keep silent. Don't be crazy. Five and ten dollar bills. Quick service. Lindbergh affair."

"This is the night you pay. We demand $20,000, get us? Don't call police. Well organized kidnap business."

PAIR CAUGHT BY POLICE AFTER CHASE IN STREETS

after a chase across the city, the two were captured back of the Leslie Hotel.

Officer McMullen testified that he had been walking his beat when he heard what sounded like hammer blows on steel inside the Hane store. He called headquarters for some aid and when the officers arrived they searched around the building, finding a window open through the ladies' toilet room. A window in the Hoyt Block was open, this window leading to the roof of the Hane company. He testified to the chase across the city and the capture of the men.

Taxi Driver Testifies

Earl Bigley, a taxi driver testified to being on the streets at the hour of the morning mentioned and having gone over to the Hane store to see what the trouble was. He assisted in the search and as he stood on the landing of one of the floors of the Hoyt Block a man rushed down the stairs. Another man joined him and the two ran out onto the Public Square. Bigley said Officer Kennedy had started out after them, and that he (Bigley) jumped into the police car which was standing nearby and with Officer McMullen gave chase. He corroborated the story of the capture back of the Leslie Hotel.

Following the testimony Attorney Thomas W. Dickey moved that the charge of carrying concealed weapons be dropped for lack of evidence. Chief of Police Horner who appeared as prosecutor insisted that the charge be maintained and Alderman Marshall ruled that the men were to be held on both charges. Bail was fixed at $2500 for each of the counts for each of the men. The case will go before the Grand Jury next Monday.

ernment money, since special levies are effective 15 days after passage.

Predict Approval

House leaders predicted approval long before Republicans and Democrats engage in a baseball game for charity this afternoon, but Senate leaders saw little chance for action in that body before Tuesday.

Charges of bad faith were hurled at the 10 Senate-House conferees by Senator Howell (R) of Nebraska because they placed the three percent tax on electricity on the consumers. The Senate had adopted the Howell amendment to place it upon power companies.

"In view of the action of the Senate, which definitely refused to approve a tax on consumption of electrical power, I was very much amazed that the conferees should transfer this tax to the consumers," said Howell.

"In my belief, the conferees exceeded their authority. I intend to raise a point of order and seek to have the bill recommitted to conference."

Latin Department Honors Conferred

Announcement Made Of Awards For Term Just Ended

The Latin department at the senior high school has announced its honor students for courses completed in June.

Senior honors go to Perry Reeher, Summa Cum Laude; Robert Ailey, Magna Cum Laude; and Cum Laude, Ruth Hildebrand and Frank Vigali. These honors carry with them medals, gold, silver and gold-embossed respectively, each properly inscribed. Senatus Romanus finances these medals awards.

Junior assigned honors in Latin are: Virginia Stone, Summa Cum Laude; Rex Rowland, Magna Cum Laude; Cum Laude, Ruth Schnebly, Rose Rice and Thelma Dengler.

Sophomores by reason of their proportionately larger numbers enrolled in Latin received a longer list of honors. Summa Cum Laude, the I. A. classes went to Lida Joseph; Magna Cum Laude to Burdette John; Cum Laude to Olga Nahas, Mary McAuley, Cecilia Hasulak, Arimatheia Bovard, Robert Kennedy, Leon Wrona, and Myrtle Shapo. An honorable mention was awarded to Abe Abrahams, Alfred Sadler and Wallis Byers.

Students receiving honors in Latin are eligible to membership in the Latin honorary society, Senatus Romanus. Since honor students in the sophomore year usually appear in the honor list in the advance Latin classes, most of the recruits for Senatus Romanus come from the sophomore group. Of this number, however, Lida Joseph, Mary McAuley, and Myrtle Shapo all became members by winning the first places in the junior high school tournament of last year. Rex Rowland and Rose Rice also first entered Senatus Romanus by way of the junior high school Latin tournament of two years ago.

Perry Reeher, by reason of his high standing in Latin at the end of his senior year was given the Lawrence County Bar Association Latin prize of ten dollars. He was in this connection given special recognition in the commencement program.

Mrs. Cale Funeral

The church funeral of Mrs. Charles M. Cale, Wallace avenue, was conducted at Old Providence church, near Raphine, Va., on Memorial Day at 10 o'clock. This is the church of Mrs. Cale's first membership and is the Associated Reformed Presbyterian denomination. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

A large number of relatives and friends paid their last tribute and the service was read by Rev. Mark Greer. The choir sang three favorite hymns of Mrs. Cale's, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "To the Hills I Lift Mine Eyes" and "In the Secret of His Tabernacle."

Flower bearers were Robert Gordon, Mac Campbell, J. F. Fix, Lloyd Paxton, Charles Harris, Raymond Cash, Hunter Ritchie, Hugh Lotts, Carson Houser and Odell Campbell. Pallbearers were Frank Carson, Roy Lucas, John Moore, Charles Cale, Harry Cale and O. T. Hite.

Adam Merishmer

Adam Merishmer, aged 75, a former resident of this city died suddenly Friday afternoon at Polk Institute, where he had been a resident for some time.

The body has been brought to the Boyd Funeral home, North Jefferson street and funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mode Is Slenderizing

Creating a slenderizing effect for the matronly figure is the achievement of the up-to-date couturier. Dark bluish grays are the most slenderizing colors, while navy blue, bluish violet and dark green are also very good, as is black. A Lelong costume of dark green and white printed crepe de chine is sketched, with dark green leather belt.

ed by adverse weather conditions would cause him to seek a landing at Croyston, England, 3,449 miles from New York.

The last word of the intrepid flyer was believed to have been from Sydney, Nova Scotia. There, about nine hours after his take-off from Floyd Bennett field, an orange colored airplane was sighted, believed to be Hausner's.

If it was he, Hausner flew there at the speed of about 100 miles an hour from New York. At the take-off he estimated it would take 44 hours to reach Warsaw, 19 of which he expected to spend flying over the Atlantic.

dinners and picnics will be held today every class since 1882, in five year steps, holding reunions.

On Sunday the annual sermon to the Christian Associations will be given in the morning, with the baccalaureate service in the evening, with Dr. Galbreath speaking.

The actual commencement exercises for the senior class will take place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Dr. Charles R. Watson, president of the American College at Cairo, Egypt, making the address. A class of nearly ninety will receive diplomas.

Lamont Honored by Columbia

One of the distinguished Americans to receive honorary degrees at the 178th commencement ceremonies of Columbia University, New York, was Thomas W. Lamont, international financier and partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan. Lamont is shown at right as he was presented with his sheepskin by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the world's largest university.

MRS. W. W. McGEE HONORED AT SHOWER

A delightful party of Friday evening was the miscellaneous shower given by Misses Martha Jenkins and Margaret Vogan at the home of the former on Adams street, when they entertained jointly associates of the Merry Maidens Club and special guests honoring Mrs. W. W. McGee, a bride of recent date, and a sister of Miss Jenkins.

Tables of bridge filled in the leisure period and at conclusion of play it was discovered the trophies for honors were won by Harriett Vickery and Leone Sankey. When the evening was at its height the guest of honor was presented in a clever manner with a huge clothes basket, artistically decorated and covered with gay tinted crepe paper. When opened, many beautiful and serviceable gifts were found to be used in her home.

The serving of a delicious collation by the hostesses at the individual tables which were prettily appointed in tones of green and orchid, brought the evening to a close.

Pittsburgh Guests Today

The Messrs. C. M. Adams, E. J. Friedrich, I. O. Gordon, W. E. Gross, N. J. Hunt, J. Hindman, T. L. Paden, Elmer Tintman and L. F. Royston all of this city, left this morning at 11 o'clock via coach for Pittsburgh where they will attend a ball game.

Following the game they will have dinner and return here late this evening.

Leave For State College

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGoun and daughter Josephine of Moody avenue, have left for State College, Pa., to attend the commencement exercises of their son Samuel H. Jr., who is graduating. The latter has the distinction of being president of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

MARION REEHER WEDS REV. ROBERT A. WILSON

A marriage of extreme interest to local residents occurred Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when Miss Marion Anne Reeher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Reeher of 514 County Line street became the bride of Rev. Robert Alvin Wilson, of Pittsburgh, son of the Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Wilson, of Tilden, Ill.

The ceremony was witnessed by members of the immediate families and Mrs. S. J. Scott was performed in the study of the Sixth United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh with Dr. S. J. Scott, pastor officiating.

The bride was lovely in a summer suit of tan beige with accessories to match, and she wore a shoulder corsage of Tailsman roses. They were unattended.

Immediately following the reading of the nuptials Rev. Wilson and his bride departed for New York and Hartford, Conn., where they will attend a conference being held for newly appointed missionaries of the Presbyterian church. They are at present under appointment to the India Mission and plan on leaving for their quarters there sometime the first part of September.

The bride is a graduate of the New Castle Senior High school with the class of 1922 and of Westminster College in 1926. For the past four years she has been an instructor at the Connelville High school. The groom graduated from the Monmouth College and from the Pittsburgh Xenia Seminary in 1931. During the past two years he has been pastor of the Union United Presbyterian church of Kiskiminetus, Pa.

Ten Ivory Club Guests

Mrs. John Mastrangelo of Cunningham avenue was a charming hostess Thursday evening when she entertained members of the Ten Ivory club in her home most informally. Various pastimes were enjoyed, and the prize for the evening was awarded to Miss Phyllis Alcone.

Later the evening assisted by her sister, Mrs. C. Alcone, served a delicious lunch, the tables being appointed in Spring flowers. In two weeks Mrs. Anthony Ciallela and Miss Martha Alcone of South Mill street will be joint hostesses, marking their next social event.

Visits in New York

Miss Evelyn Gerould, Norwood avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerould and a member of the June graduating class of New Castle high school will leave this evening for New York City where she will be met by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gerould, and after spending a few days in New York, she will accompany them to their home in Stamford, Conn. where she will spend the summer.

NESBITT HOME SCENE OF SHOWER EVENT

The Misses Margaret and Dolly Sonneborn and Zelma Nesbitt provided charming hostesses Friday evening when they entertained jointly a number of guests at the home of the latter on Wilmington road at an attractively appointed bridge-shower. The occasion was given in honor of Mrs. T. A. Matthews a bride of recent date and was most delightful.

Cards formed the chief pastime of the social period and at the close of play it was discovered prizes were captured by Mrs. Julius Hund and Miss Kathryn Jamison for honors.

At a late hour, the hostesses served a dainty repast, the menu and table decorations being cleverly carried out in tones of pink and blue. Bud vases containing for-get-me-nots, graced the center of each. When the selected time had arrived, the honored guest was presented with a number of lovely gifts concealed in a large box which too further expressed the predominating color tones.

FRIENDS SURPRISE MR. AND MRS. KELLAR

Thursday evening a large group of friends and neighbors gathered in surprise fashion in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kellar of the Wilmington road, a bride and groom of last fall, who have recently gone to housekeeping.

The affair was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower and the honored ones were the recipients of many useful gifts. After an evening spent in a pleasant social manner delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Catherine Kellar, Mrs. Florence Coulter, Mrs. Laura Comiskey and Mrs. Clara Loy.

TUESDAY KENSINGTON TO HAVE LUNCHEON

Associates of the Tuesday Kensington will gather at the home of Mrs. W. O. Williams on East Wallace avenue Tuesday afternoon for a social time. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock by the hostess.

Wyleway Bridge Club

Most enjoyable was the meeting of the Wyleway Bridge Club held Friday at the home of Mrs. Willis McMullen on Cumberland avenue. Two tables of cards filled in the hours, the tokens for honor scores being awarded to Mrs. C. C. Anderson and Mrs. Harold Matthews.

A light lunch was served at the conclusion of play by the hostess.

As a special guest, the club had Mrs. E. Chapman.

A short business period was called and plans completed for a breakfast to be held at Cascade Park on Wednesday morning.

In two weeks Mrs. Cecil Gordon on Sheridan avenue will entertain.

Girls Picnic

A group of girls left this morning for Rock Springs, where they will spend the day in roaming the woods and swimming, with picnic meals at noon and this evening.

The crowd was chaperoned by Mrs. Morris Triplett and June Horton, and included Laura Snider, Nell Horton, Mary Elizabeth Suber, Frances Blaney, Nadine Connors, Dorothy Keeley and Martha Alexander.

A. A. A. Club

Mrs. Pearl Bowers of the Youngstown road entertained the A. A. A. Club members in her home Thursday afternoon. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock followed by a period of 500. Lovely prizes went to Mrs. Carl Kirchner and Mrs. Mildred Rankin for honors.

In two weeks Mrs. Rankin on Cherry street will be club hostess.

Unexpected Club

The Unexpected Club members are looking forward to another delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Johnson on Moody avenue Tuesday evening of the coming week.

LOCAL GIRL TO ATTEND GENEVA CAMPUS QUEEN

Miss Dorothy Jean Wallace of this city with the Misses Clare Swartz of Aliquippa and Irene Wahl of New Brighton will be attendants to Miss Alice Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glover Edwards of College Hill, Beaver Falls, chosen Campus Queen of Geneva College, who will be crowned on Monday morning June 6, following the Senior Class day exercises in the college auditorium.

Miss Helen Hughes of South Fork, Pa., will perform the crowning and the scepter will be presented by Miss Helen Wallace of Rochester. Numerous others will take part in this annual event which promises to be one of the most spectacular in the history of the school.

Legion Auxiliary

Members of the Auxiliary to the Perry Gaston Post 343 of the American Legion met Friday evening in the Legion Home for the regular business meeting with Mrs. E. J. Suber giving a comprehensive report of the meeting of the four county council at Beaver Falls.

A change was made in the meeting nights, with the meeting in the future to be held on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month.

Plans were completed for a party to be given Wednesday evening, June 8, at Mrs. James Cooper.

A light lunch was served at the meeting of the Auxiliary, with an election of officers featuring the meeting.

1907 Club Entertains

Members of the 1907 Club were guests at the home of Mrs. Fred Beard on Ryan avenue Thursday evening when she entertained informally at cards. Prizes for honors were won by Mrs. J. P. Carr and Mrs. James O'Loughlin at the close of play.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess to all club members and one guest, Miss Mary Louise Murphy.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, June 15, with Mrs. Lawrence Stevenson as hostess at the home of her son, William Stevenson, on East Washington street.

Entertains Grandchildren

Mrs. E. J. Switzer of Hillcrest avenue entertained at an unusual party in her home Friday evening, having as her guests five grandchildren, namely, Eloise and Edwin Corban of the Harbor, Phyllis, Bobbie and Jacqueline James of North Ray street.

The evening was opened with the serving of dinner at six o'clock at a table nicely appointed in the season's tones and it ended up in a "slumber party".

"DEPRESSION PARTY" BY O. E. S. 333 MONDAY EVE

All plans are completed for the mystery "Depression" party to be held by members of Shenango Chapter No. 333 Order of the Eastern Star on Monday evening in the West dining room of the Cathedral. Bridge, 500 and various other games will be diversions with prizes going to the winners. Mrs. May B. Young, past matron and general chairlady on this occasion, states activities will begin at 9 o'clock and it is expected many O. E. S. members and friends will participate.

Refreshments will be served by the committee in charge at the close of the evening.

WIMODAUSS PICNIC WEDNESDAY AT PARK

All plans are complete for the outstanding picnic event in the history of the Wimodaus when they gather at Cascade Park on Wednesday, June 8. The picnic dinner will be served in the grove at 1 o'clock and following an entertaining program of games and sports of a wide variety for each member of the family, will be in progress.

Mrs. Henry Jones is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Home From Trip

Mrs. John Widdowfield, of near Wampum, and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Gillespie, of Pittsburgh, have returned home from a motor trip after spending a pleasant week sight-seeing and visiting places of interest in Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D. C.

Mrs. A. C. Cook, the former's sister whom they visited in Washington has returned home with them and will visit with her mother in Beaver Falls and with Mr. and Mrs. John Widdowfield.

Queen Sewing Circle

Mrs. Arthur Scott entertained in her home on Whippo street members of the Queen Sewing Circle. The hours were devoted to informal pastimes and following, a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

In two weeks Mrs. Ellis White on the Harlansburg road will have the members.

CONGRESS AND POLITICS

TO adjourn or not to adjourn, that is the question most troubling congress today, although it were better if that August assemblage kept its collective mind on more important matters. Congress has precedents for decisions either way. It sat through the two national conventions in 1868, 1876, 1888, 1896, 1912 and 1916. And there have been years when it showed important business aside in order to adjourn before the conventions.

In reaching a decision congress should be guided, not by whether its individual members can get along without attending the conventions, but by whether the conventions can get along without them. Congress might also consider whether it was elected to pass laws or to pass on party matters.

Nothing more urgently demands the time and attention of congressmen at this moment than the important problems before them. Until this crisis is passed and every emergency met with sound legislation where it is required no sincere representative of the people will leave Washington even for a day. Should the counsel of congressmen be needed in shaping party platforms, direct wires between the convention hall and the Capitol will be available and fast planes can gap that distance in a few hours.

Are congressmen school children who must drop their books when the circus is in town?

AMELIA'S STORY

Vain masculinity is fond of making the boast that there is nothing the ladies can do that it cannot do better. Man is ever the cock of the roost in his own estimation.

This eternal verity sent Amelia Earhart Putnam on a lonely and dangerous flight across the Atlantic ocean. At least that is her story, and, being a woman, she will stick to it.

After her more or less happy landing—mark you, not before her take-off—she said she hopped off in her old plane to show "catty men" that a woman could do it. She is tired of hearing chivalrous men blaming every traffic jam and accident on her sex and making insinuations about the limitations of the woman pilot.

Sensitive femininity is grateful to Amelia for proving the prowess of her sex, but if manhood is as catty as reputed it will discover in Amelia's feat certain little details showing that man can do it better.

For example A. E. P. was forced down in Ireland hundreds of miles short of her destination, whereas the Lone Eagle, in a plane capable of much less speed and having a shorter flying radius than hers, made it nicely right to the doors of Paris. Meow!

Sizing up the situation without the prejudice of one sex toward another it would appear that on such a flight a greater endurance is man's only advantage and that transoceanic flights depend for their success less upon the pilot than upon weather conditions and a faultless plane. And the greatest danger is from broken fuel lines, a weakness which aviation seems to be unable to overcome.

MAN'S SEVEN MISTAKES

Man's imperfections lead him to make many mistakes in life, and the pointing out of these frailties has engaged the attention of philosophers and reformers in all ages. A recent writer enumerates what he considers to be the seven greatest mistakes of man, as follows:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.
2. The tendency to worry about things that can not be changed or corrected.
3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves can not accomplish it.
4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences in order that important things may be accomplished.
5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind by not acquiring the habit of reading.
6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.
7. The failure to establish the habit of saving money.

This appears to be a pretty fair diagnosis of what is the matter with us, and everyone might profitably check up on himself in the light of these suggestions.

MIRACLES OF COMMUNICATION

Thirty years ago the Baldwin-Zeigler polar expedition, its supplies seriously depleted by an unusually hard winter, sent out appeals for help in the form of messages attached to small balloons. One of these messages just found near a Soviet Arctic station is the twenty-fifth that has turned up, but none of them reached a source of succor in time to save the expedition from failure.

That dash to the pole failed because the only available method of communication failed. Radio would have meant success. The expedition was written down as a technical failure despite many hazards braved and overcome.

Polar exploration is comparatively less dangerous and the chances of success are much greater today than 30 years ago. Aviation has helped, but one of the greatest boons to the modern polar explorer is the radio.

The fact that no matter how far the explorer wanders from the outposts of civilization he is in constant touch with the very core of civilization is in itself a big factor. As long as communication is maintained there is none of that hopeless feeling of being utterly lost, and where that feeling is missing the morale—the will to win—is stronger.

America always does things in a big way. Farm relief has relieved the wheat grower of his farm and naval reduction has enlarged the navy by a billion dollars' worth.

The Student Prince is in its eighth year at Heidelberg, beating the endurance record of the real student prince by one semester.

On his next expedition into the stratosphere, Professor Picard is expected to run across some of these major league pitchers.

The Pittsburgh college senior who defined "Parapet" as a bird probably thinks major depression is a French army officer.

The Washington club of the American League should have left Hoover in the box.

The Seabury investigation has at least splattered Jimmy's spats.

All Of Us

Children, Gray Hair
Cats a-Fighting
Feet on the Desk

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Children are tougher than we think they are. . . I've been watching them. I've been trying to remember. . . Parents are always shielding their children, trying to keep them from seeing the seamy side of life. They are afraid of what life will do to their youngsters and they try to keep them stationary. It's a waste of time. Children, little boys and little girls, are almost never shocked by anything in life. They are inexhaustibly curious, they have tough skins. Because they have had little experience in what older people call life (with a capital letter) it is almost impossible to horrify them. . . Fathers and mothers might get further with their children than they do if they could remember how fascinatingly tough they really are.

A man said to me, "I have gray hair, like you, and it seems to me I have always had it." It's in the family; my mother was gray at 20. People think I must be sensitive about it. If I happen to mention it in public some nice woman always rushes to comfort me, saying, "I think gray hair makes a man look distinguished. . . I never thought so. Nobody ever says I look 'distinguished' except when they want to make me feel better about having gray hair."

Two cats I know always are fighting. They live with families that are neighbors. One is a little striped cat, the other is a big Persian. . . Whenever they meet they fight. They stand still, looking at each other whining, twitching their tails, with one front paw lifted. They sock like prize fighters and knock each other down. They tangle and claw and make the fur fly. They keep that up for minutes at a time until at last one runs home, with the other in pursuit. . . I've watched them carefully and I have decided that they like fighting. It's excitement for them and positive joy. . . But when they fight, they don't say mean and unforfeitable things that are likely to rankle forever in their memories. They merely fight and each of them gets some pleasure out of it.

Sometimes, when I have a problem to solve, something to work out with my mind, I lean back in a chair and put my feet on a table. I've seen many other people do the same thing. That is supposed to be the Thinking Attitude. But it isn't. . . Now that I think of it, I realize that I never settled anything with my feet as high as my head. They think the Day-Dreaming attitude. When I really want to think something out, I do it sitting squarely in a chair with my head bent forward, ready for action. . . Since I am as ignorant as everybody else about what is actually going on inside of me, I cannot explain this. But I am certain it is the truth.

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS

Do you teach your children to respect the rights of others and then destroy or give away their playthings without their consent?

Such an idea may look foolish to some parents, even to consider putting up to a child what shall become of their playthings.

Toys are their companions when at play, and more precious because they can take the place of other children.

If they value them they will take better care of their toys.

There are many little lessons that may be taught through the consideration shown for Tommy's or Jennie's possessions.

If you want your flower garden protected from vandalism among the little people let them have a few seeds or plants to grow.

When they understand how long it takes to develop blossoms they will not pull them idly.

And if you are careful to protect the children's garden from depredations and do not pick their flowers yourself they will soon learn to respect others because they want their own protected.

To be owned and been respected as the possessor of, does much to make children respect the rights of ownership at home and outside of it.

Courage And Skill Credited To Amelia Earhart, Aviatrice

Atlantic Flight Declared To Have Placed Her Among The Leaders And To Have Demonstrated Possession Of Unusual Qualities

Admiration for the personal qualities that enabled Amelia Earhart Putnam to achieve the crossing of the Atlantic ocean in her airplane was voiced by the public as the record of the trip is received. Her outstanding courage and skill are lauded, and future possibilities are discussed.

Calling attention to the fact that Amelia Earhart "is the first of either sex to have flown twice between America and Europe in heavy-than-air craft" the ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS declares that "her courage, her determination and her skill rightfully enjoy world-wide admiration." The OAKLAND TRIBUNE also says: "No aviatrice is more deserving of the honor and experience than this one, who was the first woman to fly over the same waters as a passenger."

Calling her "Lady Lindy," the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE remarks: "High praise for her courage, endurance and judgment." As the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS phrases it: "She has placed her name securely in the annals of aviation, and there are many who will rejoice that a woman has followed in the route traveled by the 'Lone Eagle' in a flight that amazed the world."

The very fact that Miss Earhart "is not a spectacular, foolhardy type of aviatrice," causes the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL to call her "an ornament of the profession." The ST. LOUIS TIMES commends her for having shown "wisdom in preparation, courage in the undertaking, skill in navigation, and sound sense in making a landing when there seemed to be danger of fuel shortage." That courage of a supreme kind was necessary even to contentment of the trip is attested by the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, which remarks: "The fact that seven women essayed Mrs. Putnam's feat before her, four of whom lost their lives, indicates the heavy odds she faced."

As to the contribution to the science of aviation in this flight, the BOISE IDAHO STATESMAN thinks Miss Earhart was correct in her own personal statement over

THE THINGS ETERNAL

If life be nothing but a fight
For food; a place to sleep at night,
And fire and robes to wear;
If growth be nothing more than size,
And age be merely dimming eyes,
Then death's the end of care.

If men, like bugs and flies and worms,
But live their days on nature's terms
And in her process die,
Then brute and beast, who eat and drink,
Are better off than men who think
And often sit and sigh.

But age with joy a book can thumb
And dream of ampler years to come,
And under every care
And back of hurt of every kind
The thoughtful man can solace find
Which softens his despair.

Long after nature's growth is done
A growth in wisdom still goes on,
With its attendant peace,
And something hints that worldly strife
Is but the getaway to a life . . .
Where growth shall never cease.

A HIGH PRICE FOR SELF RESPECT
When an employee has suffered all he can bear, he quits. Without regret, he often pays a high price to maintain his self-respect.

Successful proprietors are usually less short-tempered than employees, and that is one reason why they are able to stay in business. They are endowed with more patience than the ordinary man. They suffer the demands of customers because they know that failure to do so is costly.

But occasionally a seller tells a buyer that he is all wrong and that he hopes never to see him again. The action of a skillful dentist of my acquaintance is an example of the price a professional man is sometimes willing to pay for the privilege of ending an argument.

A wealthy manufacturer came to this dentist for a set of false teeth. Two sets had been made for him by other dentists but neither was comfortable. The third set was made and the manufacturer left the office, promising to return in a few days. He left for Florida at once, and nothing was heard from him for three months. Meanwhile the dentist sent a bill for $1000.

When he returned north, the owner of the teeth came to the dentist and protested loudly and vigorously because a bill had been sent before the teeth were perfectly adjusted. "This is the best set I've ever had," confessed the patient, "but I don't like the way you do business."

The dentist asked the man to get in a chair so that he could examine the teeth. He removed the bridge, put the teeth in his pocket, and asked the patient to leave the office.

"I'm through with you," he exclaimed. "Later the man sent his check for $1000 but the dentist returned it and kept the teeth."

first departure from the traditional commencement plan, a graduate of the art department at Senior High arose to deliver a talk on her work. The audience was soon absorbed in Miss Ruth Barry's message, given on the subject of "Applied Art in the High School." Here was a demonstration-type talk for other art students paraded art projects before the assembly as she spoke.

Then came Miss Florence Saffier's talk, a message from the school's science department. "Bird Migration" was her theme and she kept the audience at attention with her descriptive illustrated talk just as Miss Barry did.

Later, after Dr. Galbreath's message, one of Senior's youngest departments, the vocational home economics, had a speaker tell of its work. Miss Virginia Guy presented a word picture of what that department does in a talk on "What Home Economics Has Meant to Me."

Style Show Features

A 15-minute style show, in which high school girls exhibited dresses and gowns fashioned by them in the department classes, followed Miss Guy's talk. There were seniors and others participating in the footlight revue, staged to the piano accompaniment of Miss Olive Fern Sanford.

But the introduction and address of Dr. Galbreath had come directly following the talk of Miss Saffier, and marked the highlight of the program. Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green introduced the college head.

Speaker's Message

"Your Heritage" was the subject that Dr. Galbreath dwelt upon as he advised the seniors in their farewell gathering. Probably never again would they be entirely enabled to grasp this chance to counsel them. Graduation, he said at the opening, is a night of all nights. Of 365 days of the year, the community looks forward to the commencement nights when this school awards diplomas to its seniors. And it rightly should.

The college head asserted that industries and other plants slow down their production but that the greatest production of all the commencement of high school graduates never slackens nor halts.

A greater part of the president's address was devoted to the three cornerstones of civilization which Dr. Galbreath said the class will inherit, the home, the church and the school. He enlarged upon each point, turning time and again to face the graduates to lay emphasis upon the more important thoughts.

Let us remember, the graduates heard him say, that the world is pretty much what we make it and that we owe it something as well. He reminded them that while their heritage is great, the duty they owe is equally as great. He closed with a reference to conditions of today and emphasized again and again that the world they are entering is a kindly, friendly one, although frightened and uneasy a bit over recent developments. He pictured it a needy world with a call out for ambitious high school students willing to meet it half way.

A clarinet solo, "Concertino" was played by Dante DiThomas, a member of the graduating class, with the orchestra assisting.

Awarding of four coveted prizes to outstanding seniors took up the remainder of the time before the presentation of diplomas. Each speaker, representing patriotic and civic groups here, explained the story behind their gifts.

Mrs. F. S. Simonton, acting for the Lawrence chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, presented an award of $10 to Miss Frances Aiken for general excellence in English during her high school course.

Reeher Class Star Attorney E. F. G. Harper, representing the Lawrence County Bar Association, presented to Perry Reeher that organization's $10 prize for attaining the highest rank in the four-year Latin course.

Attorney William Caldwell, spokesman for the Sons of the American Revolution, presented another prize of $10 to Perry Reeher for his proficiency in Chemistry.

Reeher led his class in scholastic attainments. With the presentation of prizes over, President Daniel B. Woolcock of the board of education walked to the side to hand diplomas to the 242 seniors as they walked across the stage before parents and friends in the audience.

Rev. Stump then pronounced the benediction and the commencement ended. The orchestra played an exit march.

The graduating class follows:

BONUS MARCHERS AGREE TO DEPART FROM CLEVELAND

White and ordered to call out militiamen if any serious disturbance occurred.

During the round-up of the ex-soldiers into the nearby field, only one marcher defied police and broke away. His efforts to rally a "break" were futile, however. He was quickly caught and returned to the field.

The insurgent's cries for assistance from his "buddies" went unheeded.

Veterans Object

Despite their refusal to lend their fellow marchers aid in opposing the police, the veterans objected in loud terms as they reluctantly stayed behind the police lines.

With the interference of police little hope was held by leaders of the marchers that they would succeed in getting a train to continue their trip to Pittsburgh, the next stop in the journey to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. James Butera have returned to their home in Detroit, Mich., after spending a few days with relatives in this city. They were accompanied home by Miss Emmeline Cearfoss of the Youngstown town, who will spend a month's vacation with them.

Gold Star Mother To Make Trip To France

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Mrs. A. E. McCreary, a Gold Star Mother of Volant, will make a pilgrimage to the cemetery where her son lies buried in France on June 28 according to advice from the Department of War.

Mrs. McCreary was the mother of 2nd Lieutenant Norman John McCreary, who died in action and was buried in the Aisne-Marne cemetery. Mrs. McCreary will sail from New York on the Leviathan on the twenty-eighth to visit the cemetery with a group of Gold Star Mothers and widows.

Bank Robbers Get Life Term

Pair Caught At Koppel Are Found Guilty After Speedy Trial In Ohio

BEAVER FALLS, June 4.—Justice was administered in the case of Donald "Red" Walters and Peter Hollick, self-confessed bank robbers captured between Koppel and Beaver Falls as the result of a tip furnished by the Koppel Chief of Police on May 19, it was learned here today.

The pair were found "guilty as indicted" by a jury this week, at Noble Court, Ohio, carrying a life term in prison as a sentence. Peter Chordash was implicated by the two men following their arrest, is now on trial.

All of the money taken from the Noble County National bank has been accounted for except the money spent in Koppel and Beaver Falls and that given to Paul Chordash for driving the pair in his car from Ohio to Pennsylvania.

Suicides When Mother Dies

THE PROHIBITION AMENDMENT

So much is being said and written at present in regard to the Prohibition Amendment, that the writer believes a concise statement as to the limitations of our National Constitution, and how it can be amended, might be of general interest.

The States were originally independent and sovereign entities and the National Government was created by and through the Constitution. The States surrendered and delegated to the National Government certain of their rights and powers; but especially reserving to themselves all powers and rights not delegated in the Constitution.

The material distinction between the National and State Constitutions is, that the one is a delegated power and the other is a limitation of power. Congress has no authority unless same is granted in the National Constitution. The State Legislatures have full power; unless prohibited by the State Constitution; or delegated to the National Government. It is the failure of people generally to recognize this limitation that makes many of the appeals to Congress for remedial legislation impossible. They are asking for the exercise of a power never delegated to Congress.

Prior to the Eighteenth Amendment, the states had never delegated to the National Government any control over the sale and transportation of liquor. To grant such power, the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted.

The Eighteenth Amendment was unusual in form. Instead of delegating authority to Congress which would have been in harmony with the principles of our National Constitution, the amendment was in form of an absolute prohibition. Except, as to providing the penalties and machinery for enforcement, Congress had no further power than it had prior to the amendment and the states have surrendered all power that they had prior to same. We are, therefore, in the unusual situation of having no Legislature body with power to act, except by Constitutional amendment.

The Constitution provides how and in what way it can be amended. There are two steps required. First, proposing the amendment and second, ratification.

Amendments may be proposed in two ways. Congress may by a two-thirds vote propose the amendment; or on the application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the states call a Convention for proposing same.

Ratification may likewise be made in two ways and Congress has power to designate either. First, by a vote of three-fourths of the State Legislatures; or second by Convention.

Proposed Changes In State Laws

Bills To Be Introduced At Next Session Of Legislature Outlined

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa. June 4.—Drastic changes are likely to result from the next regular session of the Legislature if bills contemplated at present for introduction are enacted next year.

This was revealed by Mrs. Helen M. Schluski who recently returned from a conference at Philadelphia where matters of state-wide significance were discussed.

Among the most important of the changes is that involved in a bill providing for the collection of all county taxes, including those of Boroughs and Townships, by the county treasurer of fourth class counties. This would result in a large saving to counties, it is contended.

Another contemplated action is the elimination of the township supervisors. The majority of the work formerly transacted by this office is now taken care of by the state, it was pointed out.

The consensus of opinion at the conference was that the state may close 20,000 miles of road. This is the estimated mileage in townships where travel is light. Its maintenance is regarded as an unnecessary burden.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

PENN STATE WILL HAVE FIELD DAY FOR FARMERS

New and timely information, based on the findings of science, will be revealed at the annual Farmers' Field Day at the Pennsylvania State College, Thursday, June 9. An all-day program representing 13 lines of activity in the School of Agriculture and Experiment Station has been planned.

Agricultural engineering will demonstrate corn production, potato production, and potato harvesting machinery, anti-knock fuels for farm machinery, feed grinding with portable motors, electric dairy utensils, sterilizers, electric water heaters, knot tying and rope splicing, and burglar alarms.

Farm crops workers will present information on 5-year's results with fertilizers, lime, and manure; different forms and amounts of phosphate affecting crop production; varieties and strains of alfalfa and clover; forage crops and grasses.

Animal husbandry demonstrations will be given in sheep shearing, wool grading, lamb slaughtering and cutting, horse pulling, and multiple hitches. There will be exhibits of beef cattle, draft horses, sheep, and swine. The steer feeding experiments will be reviewed.

Dairy husbandry topics will include good bulls and their value to the herd, better cows and how to get them, milking calves or buying cows, reducing feed costs of milk production, establishing new pastures and improving old ones, Bang's disease and other cow troubles. Exhibits of dairy production equipment and dairy products will be staged.

Foresters will demonstrate timber estimating and saw filing and answer questions on woods problems. Fruit growing information will stress orchard soil management and fertility, fruit thinning, and pruning and thinning. There will be a growers' conference hour also.

In ornamental horticulture there will be an inspection of the college flower gardens, a conference hour, and talks on rose varieties and their outdoor culture, herbaceous perennials and their care, rock garden plants, ornamental trees and shrubs and their propagation.

Plant pathology specialists will demonstrate efficient methods of controlling various diseases.

Poultry husbandry department members will be stationed at various points of interest on the college poultry plant to explain experiments in progress, to demonstrate the latest improved practices, and to consult with visitors about their problems. There will be a demonstration of killing and dressing of chickens, a talk on quality eggs, an inspection of the poultry plant, an exhibit, and a turkey weight guessing contest with award of prizes to winners.

Vegetable gardening and plant breeding specialists will present soil preparation for plant growing, cultivating garden crops, fertilizing sweet corn and tomatoes, improved strains and varieties of vegetables for the farm and home garden, and problems in greenhouse vegetable growing.

Agricultural economics and entomology will have exhibits. In the special program for farm women there will be a talk and demonstration on home management, an inspection of the experiments on fabrics and textiles, an illustrated lecture on landscaping the home grounds, music, and an afternoon tea.

Selections by the Pennsylvania Railroad Works Male Chorus of 50 trained voices will compose the entertainment program Thursday evening. This event replaces the program given in previous years the night before Farmers' Field Day. There will be group, solo, and quartet numbers, selections by a piano accompanist, and comedy features.

USE RANGE SHELTERS FOR HEALTHY PULLETS

Range shelters fill a real need on many farms where chicks spend their early days in brooder houses which are not movable.

Many shelters are being built according to the plans in Circular 132 of the Pennsylvania State College. Copies of this free publication can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office.

Pullets should be transferred to this shelter during a warm spell after they have become thoroughly hardened and weaned away from heat. They should have learned to roost in the brooder house.

It also is considered desirable to have the birds accustomed to eating plenty of green feed in the brooder house before they are put on the range. Ill effects sometimes result from pullets gorging themselves when they are first placed on range. Water containers and feed hoppers should be distributed over the range so that no small area becomes contaminated, excessively. Such troubles as worms and coccidiosis spread more rapidly under moist conditions, therefore, steps should be taken to prevent puddles from forming.

Water dishes may be placed on wire platforms over a hole in the ground which has been filled with some porous material, such as gravel or broken stone. The waste water will seep away and mud puddles will not form.

Feed hoppers should be moved when the areas around them become filthy. All grain should be fed in hoppers.

KILL WEEDS EARLY TO AVOID LATER TROUBLE

Potato growers of Lawrence county have learned that 75 per cent of the battle against weeds is won with the weeder or harrow, or both, before and after the potatoes are up, and before starting with the cultivator.

The same operation can be used in keeping corn free from weeds. After the corn is planted it should receive at least one or two harrowings before it comes up, and the weeder or spike-tooth harrow can be used very effectively after it is up. Weeds are killed very easily as they come through the ground and, if kept down at the beginning, will give little trouble later.

PLANT TOMATOES EARLY AND FURNISH FERTILITY

Large yields of tomatoes may be obtained by the use of good plants, set early in a well-prepared fertile soil.

Set the plants several inches deeper than they grew in the plant bed. The best time to transplant is on a cloudy day or in the afternoon. If the soil is dry fill the hole with water after the plant has been set. Drier soil is then firmed about the plant, being careful not to injure the stem. The roots should not become dry nor the tops wilted before transplanting.

Soil for tomatoes should be plowed early to allow any crop remains or manure to decay. The application of manure, where available, will improve growth, especially where a green manure crop or clover has not been grown.

A fertilizer high in phosphoric acid, such as a 4-12-4 or 4-16-4 will be most effective. Apply the complete fertilizer broadcast before planting, if 800 or more pounds an acre are applied. Where only about 500 pounds an acre can be applied, it may be put in the row before planting and mixed well with the soil.

Additional dressings of nitrate of soda or sulfate of ammonia may be applied at the rate of about 160 or 200 pounds an acre about the time the first fruits have been set to stimulate the growth of leaves and stems.

Space tomato plants about four feet each way, unless they are to be staked and pruned. Two by three feet each way is enough where plants are staked and pruned to a single stem.

Quite a surprise was the employees of the New Wilmington Motor Company Thursday morning when after reporting for work they discovered a car to be missing and several tires and wheels to be gone from the car of Pat Anderson who serves as a mechanic in the garage.

A search was instigated, the police notified, and before noon the car had been located on the track field north of town. The wheels and tires were gone however and nothing could be found to give any clue. The robbers had forced the garage door open, entered, helped themselves to a car, loaded it down with wheels and disappeared.

To Battle Depression Anew

A world conference to wage war on the depression by the international stabilization of commodity prices is the latest proposal for putting business in both hemispheres back on its feet. The plan, initiated by Winston Churchill, British statesman, and backed by Premier Ramsay MacDonald, has been assured of the cooperation of the United States. It was announced following a conference between Secretary of State Stimson and President Hoover. It is expected that currency, foreign exchange, the gold standard, silver and other questions will be dealt with, but the United States has barred debts, reparations and disarmament from discussion.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Children's Day Programs Sunday

Presbyterian And Christian Churches Will Observe Special Day

Two local churches, the Presbyterian and Christian, are presenting Children's Day exercises tomorrow. They have arranged unusually promising programs. Several hundred youngsters from the primary departments will take part.

Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will have its program in the morning. Because of this special presentation, Sunday school services will not commence until 10:30 a. m. After the opening exercises and class meetings at the regular places, the members will march to the auditorium. The Children's Day exercises will take the place of the morning worship service at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. William Bollinger, Mrs. Pearl Walker, Mrs. H. E. Alexander and Mrs. George Horcher are in charge. At the Madison avenue Christian church the committee in charge plans to give "Glory Crowned" at eight o'clock Sunday night. The exercise will include choral numbers, recitations and tableaux. Program committee consists of Mrs. J. D. Gilmore, chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Walters, Mrs. Roy Franklin, Mrs. Grace Wingfield. Decorations will be arranged by Mrs. Steve Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Withers, Manning Moore, Edward Houk, James Gilmore, Miss Fae Turk and Miss Ethel Wagner.

Says Wagner Relief Bill Would Be Of Little Aid To State

Secretary Of Treasury Mills Says Only 2,141 Would Get Job In State

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—The Wagner relief bill now being considered by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee would give employment to only 2,141 men in Pennsylvania according to figures compiled by Secretary of the Treasury Mills.

Secretary Mills appeared before the committee to testify in opposition to the measure upon the basis that the number of men it would employ would not justify the expenditures involved. He presented figures calculated to substantiate this contention.

The bill would call for the expenditure of $120,000,000 on highways, and of this amount, $5,261,052 would go to Pennsylvania. This would be an average of 55 cents per resident of the state and would give employment to only 1,461 men in the state according to Mills.

In addition, the relief measure would authorize the expenditures of $45,000,000 on waterway development. Of this amount, $1,704,300 would be allocated to Pennsylvania, a per capita average of 18 cents. This would put only 680 men to work in the state, Mills testified.

St. Mary's Council Will Honor Number Of Older Members

Ceremonial Will Be Held At St. Mary's Auditorium Sunday Evening

St. Mary's Council No. 512, Knights of Columbus, will hold a ceremonial honoring the older members of the council on Sunday, June 5, 1932 at 8:15 p. m. in St. Mary's Parish Auditorium, North Beaver street.

The affair will be one of more than ordinary importance in the history of the organization. Stephen J. Boyle, being the recipient of an Honorary Life Membership, while the following members will receive Honorary Memberships: J. L. Agan, M. C. Morrissey, F. P. Steckel, Arch McCaughan, A. M. O'Neill, Joseph Hannon and William Maso. These honorary memberships being conferred Sunday night are significant of twenty-five years as members of the Knights of Columbus.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Leo A. McMullin, Esq., district deputy of Pittsburgh, Pa. The ceremonial will be in charge of the Council Officers, and the response for the class will be made by Past Grand Knight J. L. Agan. A short musical program will complete the ceremony, which is being held for the first time in St. Mary's Council.

Youths Forbidden To Enter Greenwood Memorial Park

Must Get Permit From Superintendent Otherwise They Will Be Subject To Arrest

Mayor Charles B. Mayne had six boys before him this morning, who were ordered in because of their constant deliberate desecration of the markers, flowers, etc., at Greenwood Memorial park.

The two older boys, about fifteen years of age, were forbidden by the mayor to enter the place again, except when for any real reason, they might have occasion to enter the place, when they must seek the superintendent or some person in authority to give them a permit.

The mayor said he knew of nothing worse than a boy or other person, who would desecrate a burial place and imposing the above restriction, informed the boys, that if they were found in the place again without permission, that they would be given the full extent of the law, which is very severe.

These boys had been using an iron pipe in hitting and damaging tombstones and doing other things of like nature.

Four other younger boys, who have been following the leadership of the first two, to a greater or less extent, were ordered to report to the mayor the first Monday of each month until further orders were issued to them.

Slain Premier and Successor

Believed to be the only photo ever made showing the two Japanese statesmen together, this picture shows the late Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai (right) as he appeared recently with Katsushige Takahashi, Finance Minister, who has succeeded him as temporary head of the government. Takahashi was installed following the assassination of Premier Inukai by alleged military terrorists. He died in a similar duty when Premier Takashi Hara was murdered in 1921.

Pennsy Police Go To Cleveland

Local Railroad Officers Called To Ohio City Because Of Bonus Marchers

Captain of Police W. E. Gastinger of the Pennsylvania railroad, accompanied by Pennsylvania policemen stationed here, left early today to aid Cleveland rail and city police in handling the throng of bonus marchers who used the company's Kinsman street yards for their overnight encampment ground, disrupting outgoing passenger and freight traffic.

The veterans, it was said, demand rail transportation to Washington, D. C.

Reports said that no trains left the yards from midnight last night up until a late hour this morning. The veterans were to be asked later this morning to leave the yards.

Division officials of the road here were being kept informed of developments there.

Slippery Rock Students Visit Farms In County

Judging Team Contestants
View Prize Stock On Several Farms

Accompanied by their instructor, W. L. Hess, a group of boys in the Vocational Agricultural classes at Slippery Rock high school made a livestock judging and inspection trip to several Lawrence county farms on Wednesday.

The first stop was at the farms of Thomas Cooper. Here the boys judged two classes, a class of yearling colts and a class of grade geldings. Mr. Cooper was a fine host. He showed the boys many of his fine brood mares and colts, pointing out many of the qualities one should look for in judging horses.

The boys also visited the Charles Breneman farm, where they saw some of his prize-winning Shorthorn and Guernsey cattle.

The last place visited was the William Elliott farm, where a class of sheep was judged. In all cases the boys received much valuable help in judging. This trip was primarily for the purpose of selecting a team to represent Slippery Rock high school at State College during Future Farmers Week, in August.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Special Speaker
The First Spiritualist church will have a special speaker on Sunday, Harold Hoffman, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Hoffman will speak at both the afternoon and evening services, at 2:45 and 7:45 o'clock, daylight savings time. The services are conducted in the Clendenin building.

Missionary Luncheon
A delightful afternoon was spent by the members of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Christian church Friday when they assembled for a luncheon at one o'clock, with Mrs. J. B. Dufford's group in charge.

After a delicious menu at prettily decorated tables the women enjoyed a program of splendid missionary value, in charge of Mrs. C. D. Mills. Speakers were Mrs. W. W. Perry, Mrs. W. T. Barnes, Mrs. M. E. Vaughn, Mrs. Henry Rodgers, Mrs. Roy Waite and Mrs. G. S. Bennett.

Rebekah Chapter
The Rebekah Chapter of the First United Presbyterian church held its last meeting of the season Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Geo. Moore, on the Harlansburg road, with Mary Pattison, Mrs. Elizabeth Allshouse and Mrs. William James as associate hostesses.

Mrs. Edna Bollard opened the

P. H. C. Meeting
The regular meeting of the P. H. C. No. 5 will be held Wednesday evening in Malta Hall. Following a card party will be enjoyed by the members.

Revival To Close
The Sunday school hour in the Church of the Nazarene, West Falls street, will be given over to a big rally day program Sunday morning, with plenty of music and singing by the London party, who are conducting a revival at the church. Dr. A. S. London will speak on "The Causes of Crime Among the Youth" and a splendid Bible will be presented to the person who brings the largest number to the rally.

At 2:30 p. m. Dr. London will preach on "The Causes and Cure for the Blues." Prof. and Mrs. Haskell London of Lexington, Ky., will have charge of the singing, with Mrs. A. S. London at the piano. The closing service of the campaign will be held at 8 o'clock, when the sermon will be "The Cry of Broken Hearted Parents."

Missionary Meeting
An interesting meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Epworth Methodist church was held Friday afternoon at the church with Mrs. Hogue leading the devotional period, aided by Mrs. Roland and Mrs. Sara Wright.

Mrs. P. P. Andrews presided over the business meeting and the program included a monologue presented in a clever manner by Mrs. Mary Roland. Missionary readings were given by Mrs. J. C. Wimer, Mrs. S. A. Leiby and Mrs. M. W. Calderwood.

Hostesses at the social period were Mrs. P. H. Kearns, Mrs. Frank Cypher, Mrs. John Jackson and Mrs. T. M. Shaffer, who served refreshments.

Central Church Groups
The A. U. R. Girls and the S. of D. Girls, missionary societies of the Central Presbyterian church, will hold a joint meeting in the church on Tuesday evening, June 7, at 8 o'clock.

Macedonian Circle
Members of the Macedonian Circle of the Second United Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday evening at 7:45, with section one in charge of the program, with "India" as the topic.

L. and E. Class
Members of the L. and E. class of the Central Presbyterian church will meet Monday evening at the home of Margaret Lowery on the Youngstown road.

Gleaner's Society
The Gleaner's Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian church will meet Monday evening at 7:45, the home of Mrs. G. V. Campbell, 925 Adams street, with Mrs. Earl Dufford as the leader.

Pythian Sisters
Castle Temple 37 of the Pythian Sisters met Friday evening in the City building for a business session, at which time Mrs. Sara Parshall gave a splendid report of her recent visit to the Pythian Home at Duncannon.

Plans were made for a Memorial service to be held at the next meeting and a practice for this will be held Wednesday June 8, at 2:30 in the City Building.

Gibson Responds To Cable Peace Workers Here Send

Ambassador Hugh Gibson, American delegate to the General Disarmament Conference in session at Geneva responded in the following fashion to a cablegram which the Lawrence County branch, Women's International League for Peace dispatched to The Hague on May 17. Mrs. Miriam Cosel, Madam:

I have to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your telegram stating that a citizens' mass meeting in New Castle has pledge support of the proposal to abolish aggressive arms.

Please rest assured that the support which you and your fellow citizens of New Castle are giving to the American Delegation in its work here is greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,
HUGH GIBSON.

The cablegram was authorized at a Senior High school program here on International Good Will Day. Mrs. H. S. Kirk, Jr., is county chairman for the women's league.

Revival To Come To Close Sunday

The largest crowd that has attended the revivals in the Church of the Nazarene was present Friday evening when Evangelist A. S. London talked on the causes leading up to the Hickman Crime. He stressed three points: the home life, the educational life, which had taught no God and no hereafter; and his own ideals of living.

Special music was furnished by Haskell London, who sang "As the Years Roll On."

The close of the revival will come with the Sunday services, which will include a big Sunday school rally, which will be attended by children from the Margaret Henry Home; a delegation from the Legion Home, and a colored choir.

Haskell London will tell why he quit Athletics and turned down an offer of $20,000 a year for athletic work.

At 3 p. m. there will be a service when Dr. London will speak on the "Cause and Cure of the Blues," and at the evening service he will have an appropriate closing sermon.

Bessemer Lands Second Place In County B School Race

INFELDERS STAGE EIGHT DOUBLE PLAYS

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, June 4.—Bessemer high baseball season has closed with nine wins and two defeats and one forfeited game and outstanding were the no-hit games pitched by Percic and Plevnic. Percic turned the feat against Union and Plevnic against East Brook. It is doubtful if there are two no-hit pitchers on any other scholastic team in the country.

The eight double plays the Bessemer infield executed against opponents found Stanley to Semenza to Gorenz went over big and the only nine Bessemer fell before was Wampum, pennant winner.

Stanley and Semenza were the big guns on offense and Throop came through with a percentage of .416. Benson acted as relief hurler for Percic and Plevnic.

He took the hill against Shenango and Princeton when it looked bad for Bessemer. He stopped the teams without a run and held East Brook to one hit in another game.

Municipal Course Now In Fine Shape

Additional improvements have been made at the Municipal golf course during the past week and the course is now in the finest condition it has ever been.

Work has been completed on enlarging the teeing area on all holes and these were oiled this week which will tend to keep the ground soft, yet firm.

The rough alongside the fairways is in much better shape this year than last, and most of the stones have been removed and hauled away.

Today and Sunday should find record crowds playing at the course.

John McGraw Retires; Bill Terry Manager

Fiery Leader Of New York Giants Since 1902 Steps Down For Younger Man

ILL HEALTH IS GIVEN AS CAUSE

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 4.—The baseball world was bewildered today as it contemplated the future without colorful, truculent, easy John McGraw the uncrowned but acknowledged king of managers.

The little Napoleon worn by the thirty years of battle behind him has retired and thrown his mantle to young Bill Terry, one of McGraw's brightest young men. In a statement issued by McGraw, he told of his faith in Terry and added that he would be available at any time Terry needed advice. Ill health was given as the reason for McGraw's retirement.

Will McGraw

So the Giants take the field this afternoon without the services of their square jawed domineering leader. It is the first time since June 1902 that a Giant team has stepped to the plate without the knowledge that John McGraw either in person or through an assistant was directing the play.

In New York the Giants and McGraw are synonymous. Those who come to the polo grounds as Giant fans are frank in their worship of both the team and its manager. A dominant personality McGraw always made his teams partake somewhat of his truculent spirit. This season has been to date a disastrous one for the Giants but even his most bitter critics will not venture to say that McGraw has stepped out because of the poor showing of his team.

Never Ran Away

McGraw was never one to run away from a fight. The reason given by himself and the New York Club officials for his retirement is poor health and those who know him realize that there was no other reason for his action. McGraw has been a sick man for three years. Stomach trouble and sinus disorders have made life miserable for the most dominant figure in the game and baseball to him had become a drudgery instead of the exhilarating battle it had once been.

In picking Terry as his successor McGraw has made his final farewell gesture a remarkable one. It is no secret that McGraw and his first baseman have often been at odds. It has been said that the two men have not spoken to each other except in line of duty. This is an exaggeration but there has been little love lost between them.

Terry Made Manager

However, McGraw, as vice president and stockholder of the Club, forgot his personal feelings and dictated the naming of Terry, which probably surprised Terry as much as it did the baseball world. McGraw felt that Terry had the qualities of leadership and that the Club under him would go far.

There are those who will perhaps criticize McGraw for not picking Bancroft to manage the Club but those close to McGraw say that although he admired and liked the popular "Banny" he didn't think that the former Giant player was "hard boiled" enough to make a good manager.

Raised in a hand school McGraw is an admirer of the robust type of player. He likes his players to fight for every point.

Spencers Capture 10 Inning Game

Spencers defeated the Independents 12 to 11 in a City Mushball league 10 inning game Friday on Washington field. Shoaff, Regan and Maki hit home runs. Moser hit a triple, double and a single.

Coombs and Herzog

Memories of the hectic 1911 world series in which Jack Coombs, star Athletic hurler, and Buck Herzog, famed Giant outfielder, played a prominent part, are brought back by today's box scores of Duke university games.

Bob Coombs, top, nephew of Jack, and Buck Herzog, Jr., son of the New York star, are regulars with the Duke nine. Young Coombs is a pitcher, too, and Herzog an infielder. Jack Coombs is now coach at Duke.

Buoyancy In Bonds Stimulates Climb In Prices Today

BANKING POOL
CAUSES UPTURN

By LESLIE GOLD
International News Service Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stock market staged another strong performance today with leading issues running up from 1 to more than 5 points. Closing prices were virtually at the top and represented the highest levels seen in weeks.

Buoyancy in bonds was the stimulating influence, senior obligations running up sharply again following the announcement late yesterday of the $100,000,000 banking securities pool to be directed by J. P. Morgan & Co.

Homestead Mining was the star performer, climbing more than 5 points to a new record high. Rails were outstandingly strong with Atchison and Union Pacific gaining several points apiece and even low priced issues running up 1 to 2 points.

Leaders like U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, American Tobacco, B. American Can, Air Reduction, Woolworth, American Telephone, and Consolidated Gas advanced 1 to more than 3 points each. Volume was decidedly up with total turnover approximating 800,000 shares.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

IN DECEMBER 1776, THE YOUNG MARQUIS DE LAFAYETTE SECRETLY VISITED SILAS DEANE, THE AMERICAN COMMISSIONER, IN PARIS AND OFFERED TO GO TO AMERICA AT HIS OWN EXPENSE AND FIGHT AS A VOLUNTEER IN THE WASHINGTON ARMY.

LAFAYETTE SAID: "IN PRESENTING MY NINETEEN-YEAR-OLD FACE TO MR. DEANE, I SPOKE MORE OF MY ZEAL THAN OF MY EXPERIENCE. HOWEVER, THE ASTUTE DEANE WAS DEEPLY IMPRESSED BY THE YOUNG FRENCHMAN, AND THE DETAILS OF AN AGREEMENT WERE QUICKLY SETTLED."

LAFAYETTE—IN 1776—

THE CONTRACT WAS SIGNED. THE MARQUIS AGREEING TO SERVE THE UNITED STATES WITHOUT PAY OR PENSION AND DEANE PROMISING LAFAYETTE A MAJOR GENERAL'S COMMISSION IN THE CONTINENTAL ARMY SUBJECT TO THE APPROVAL OF CONGRESS.

Below—EXTRACT FROM LAFAYETTE'S CONTRACT WITH SILAS DEANE:

On the conditions here explained I offer myself and promise to depart when and how Mr. Deane shall judge proper, to serve the United States with all possible zeal, without any pension or particular allowance, reserving to myself the liberty of returning to Europe when my family or my King shall recall me.

Done at Paris this 7th of December, 1776.

School Principals
Named By BoardMakes Stirring
Plea To Continue
Foreign Classes

Board Members Are Influenced
By Appeal From Miss
Lucy Glass

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—In one of the most stirring pleas made here, Miss Lucy Glass, of the state department of education and of Pittsburgh, urged the reinstatement of home classes for foreign born mothers in Ellwood City, which work has been done admirably here by Mrs. Joseph Young.

Miss Glass is a Lawrence county lady having been born in Scott township. She taught school in this district for eight years before she left to work in other fields. Upon hearing that the local school board decided to abolish the home classes for economy measures, Miss Glass immediately asked for an audience of this body to present facts that may cause them to reconsider their decision.

Miss Glass is a member of the Teacher's Retirement Board and is in charge of Foreign Home Classes in the state of Pennsylvania. She has twice used her influence to aid the local school district when it was in dire need. Miss Glass persuaded the Retirement Board to purchase $150,000 worth of the school district bonds and is said to be interested in purchasing more to the amount of $75,000. These bonds are tax free. When appealed for aid many years ago, Miss Glass was eager to do something for her county and district and it was a personal matter for her to urge the purchasing of the bonds. The school district has been saved a sum of $12,000 in taxes for the bonds, because they are state property.

Several years ago Supt. Becker asked her aid to find some way to educate the foreign born mothers here. It was necessary for the classes to be inaugurated here so that a mother may be an understanding guide for her children. Miss Glass paid tribute to Mrs. Joseph Young who has compiled an enviable record amongst the foreign mothers here. According to records turned in from all over the state, Mrs. Young's classes have the best attendance and show the most progress. She had 68 mothers enrolled. "Her work has been remarkable," stated Miss Glass. Upon hearing of the discontinuance of the classes Miss Glass was hurt. It was her opinion that this class should be the last to be done away with, for it will only reflect upon the type of citizenship in the community. The speaker related some pitiful cases of uneducated mothers who could not even read their children's letters and still more not being able to converse with them intelligently.

The speaker pointed out that the penitentiaries and reformatories of this county are filled mostly with the children of foreign born mothers. If the mother had only been educated a better understanding would exist between herself and the children. She would be more capable of keeping them out of undesirable places. Many homes are broken because of the lack of sufficient English on the mother's part. Miss Glass urged the board not to discontinue the work here for it was the only piece of work she has left in Lawrence county.

The money saved from the tax exemptions for the bonds added to the state reimbursement for this kind of work should be sufficient to carry on the classes for a number of years. She also pointed out that the district will not have to wait so long as formerly for their state reimbursement, since the new law went into effect.

At the conclusion of her plea the board decided to reconsider the situation and inform Miss Glass at the earliest moment.

Old Stars Are Seen In Action
Once Again At Lincoln
Field Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—Whether they were still too spry or just clever, could not be determined last night as a fine crowd witnessed the 8-4 drubbing given to Grundy Volpe's Beaver County Leaguers by the Foltz All Stars in a charity contest at Lincoln Field Friday evening.

Old times and memories were revived again last night when local sports fans saw once again in action such players as Alex Black of New Castle, Joe Smith, Harry Noss, Frank Fitzgerald, George MacMurdo, Horse Johnson, Pat Boyle, Mark Jamison, Joe Lattano, Merit Book, Fred Sanders, Bracken, and McCaughy. In earlier days this was the best baseball talent in Ellwood City.

The game was arranged as a benefit for Clifford "Kid" Foltz who is recovering from an operation on his leg at Miami, Fla. Foltz was the manager of the above team.

The All Stars were slow in starting but when they did the runs came in rapidly. They were behind 4-1 in the third inning. There was no score again until the seventh when the Foltz men brought in 7 runs. County Leaguers were held in check for the remainder of the game and the score stood at 8-4.

The game featured a home run by Harry Noss and the fine pitching by Pat Boyle. He held his opponents to five scattered hits while his teammates accumulated 10 runs from Means and Poholsky. The old timers also pulled off several double plays, much to the amazement of the fans. This proved that they were still not too old to play ball.

Board Reaches Agreement With Tax Collector

Other Business Is Transacted At Special Meeting Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—In their effort to find a suitable plan by which the tax exoneration list can be decreased, the Board of Education at its special meeting in the Lincoln High School Friday evening asked the cooperation of Tax Collector, T. A. E. McCaughy in furnishing lists and regular reports at the earliest moment.

The board also instructed C. F. McClaren to study the tax exoneration lists for 1930-31 and be ready to make a recommendation at their regular meeting on June 14, so that the board may be able to present its tax duplicate for approval to the state department in the specified time. The lists for these two years must be cleaned up before the next one is presented. The board will file liens on property for 1930-31 taxes as directed by their attorney.

The tax collector's bond this year was set at $40,000 the same as last year, by a motion of the school directors.

Secretary G. Blaine Hancher, by a motion of the board was instructed to write for an advancement of the state appropriation for August which will be used for teacher's salaries. The amount will be about $18,000.

Upon recommendation of the building committee headed by Dr. H. E. Helling several repairs will be made in the North Side, Hartman, and Lincoln Schools for the safety of school children.

As You Like It
Club Has Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—Mrs. Ira West of First avenue entertained the members of the As You Like It Club at her home last night. Miss Dorothy Battersby was a special guest. After a delicious 6 o'clock dinner the nine members present spent the evening with games and contests which resulted in Mrs. Wayne Fleeger and Mrs. Dean Fleeger winning the awards.

The next meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Clyde Graham.

HARRIET GORDON S. S. CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—The members of the Harriet Gordon Sunday school class of the Wurtemberg United Presbyterian church enjoyed a pleasant evening when they gathered at the home of the Misses Myrtle and Verna Gilbert near Van Gorder's Mills, for their regular meeting.

At a seasonable time the guests were invited into the dining room. The next meeting will be held during the last of June at the James Badger home at Wurtemberg.

FIELD MEETING TO BE HELD

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—On Monday evening, June 6, at 7:30, D. S. T. a field meeting of the pasture improvement association of Franklin township will be held on the farm of James J. Potter on the Ellwood-Zenepole road. R. M. Gridley, Beaver county farm agent, will give a demonstration on the fertilization of seeds.

Two Year Moratorium On Matrimony For Naval Cadets Opposed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—The navy's two-year moratorium on marriages for Annapolis graduates today brought forth critical comment in the "feminine bloc" of the House.

Always friendly to Dan Cupid, the women members decided that perhaps bureaucracy was going too far.

The issue was precipitated when Representative Cochran (D) of Missouri introduced a bill to set aside the navy ruling and prohibit a similar ruling being applied to West Point cadets.

Announcing that he was firing a "legislative gun" in behalf of the ancient institution of matrimony, Cochran asked the military affairs committee to call on the army and navy heads for a report on his bill.

Mrs. Mary T. Norton (D) of New Jersey, who is unofficial "mayor" of Washington as chairman of the District of Columbia committee, was outspoken in her opposition to the ruling.

"It seems it is an interference in personal affairs," she said. "The question might well be decided by the young people and their parents.

"If the government is going to interfere in private lives to the extent of saying when men and women may marry, it is a serious question."

Mrs. Florence Kahn (R) of California, a proud grandmother, admitted there may be two sides to the question. She wants to know the reasons for the ruling.

"After all, we have no right to regulate the lives of midshipmen. Of course, there may be two sides to the question," she said.

"Some officers may marry so young and become saddled with debt which leads to irritability and misunderstanding. In civil life young married people who are poor generally associate with others in the same position. In the army or navy they may try to keep up socially when they can't afford it."

Young naval officers also, she pointed out, are usually sent to sea after graduation. The naval ruling does not apply to this year's class at Annapolis.

Prince Ekuskini Back From West Is Now An Ordained Evangelist And Plans To Work In District For While

Prince Ekuskini, Sachem of Tellico, full blooded American Indian, who is better known to his friends in this section as Eugene Galvin, through the medium of many Indian articles that he has published in The News, has returned here from St. Louis, Mo., where he has been for the past month and where he ordained as an evangelist in the Pentecostal Church of God, which church organization has its headquarters at Ottumwa, Iowa. While in St. Louis, he worked among his own people of whom there are quite a number in that city.

He has returned here for the summer months and plans to do evangelistic work in Youngstown, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New Castle. In the fall he will return to the southwest and work among his own people.

He reports that apparently, there is an improvement in business conditions in the St. Louis district, as the percentage there is less than in this section of the country at the present time. The cost of living is down considerably in that section of the country.

At the present time, he is the guest of Herman Sigelov of River-view avenue.

Remembers Seeing Big Black Bear Killed In County

R. M. Leslie Is Probably Only
Living Resident Of County
With This Experience

R. M. Leslie, well-known and highly respected resident of Lawrence county, and a former county commissioner, believes that he is probably the only living resident of the county who ever saw a black bear killed within the confines of the county.

This type of bears were not native to this county and where this particular bear came from was never fully determined.

It was in the fall of 1857, according to the recollection of Mr. Leslie, that he as a boy was attending school in the Kyle district of North Beaver township.

On the particular day that he recalls he had permission to go to his Uncle Adam Leslie's place. He had to go through a piece of woods known as the Chambers sugar camp, and heard a disturbance in the direction of his uncle Joseph Reed's place.

Investigating, he found that his uncle's dog had shown a disposition to become excited and as his uncle and the dog had been hunting the cause of the dog's excitement among some corn shocks, out stepped a large black bear. The bear on seeing them, started to run away. Mr. Reed went after a pitchfork. In the meantime his uncle Adam Leslie and Henry Chambers, in fact, a group of four men, three dogs, and with three guns, joined in the chase after the bear.

R. M. Leslie and his cousins, David and Lib Leslie, all school children, on getting in on the affair at the start, had done some tail running when they saw the bear.

Finally the bear was treed in a hickory tree, going up to the forks of the tree, some 35 feet from the ground. R. M. Leslie, then a schoolboy, was placed in a dogwood tree for safety.

Joseph Reed shot and missed the bear, but Henry Chambers shot and killed it and it came tumbling to the ground. The hide was removed and his uncle, Joseph Reed, had it made into buggy robes.

Mr. Leslie recalls the incidents of that day just as though it was but yesterday.

An old time recipe for rabbit stew had the injunction, "first catch your rabbit." And that's what a lot of people are going to begin doing if the rumbles from amateur gardeners are to be taken seriously.

The rabbit business is past the joke stage, it's getting to be a nuisance. They not only make their midnight lunches off the tender shoots of flowers and plants, but they have now taken to using group flowers such as lilies for a bed and you can imagine lilies' embarrassment.

Fred Lee was willing to share his bean patch fifty-fifty with the bunnies but they had the wrong idea about the proportion. It was fifty-fifty, the rabbits took the leaves and left him the stems.

Signs don't bother them and stones always miss them. The next step will be to form Rabbit Extermination Association and start some target practice in the back yard.

Passersby on Washington street near Mill saw a nose dive Friday morning that probably means one less pigeon in the world. Nobody knows what happened, but suddenly a pigeon plummeted down from the air, lit on top of an automobile and then bounced to the street.

Apparently it had fallen from some height for it came within an ace of tearing through the automobile top. A nature friend laid the stunned bird on one of the shelves of the newspaper stand at the corner.

If you think you have a tough time with your lawn these days of no rain, take a think of what the golf courses are up against. Six hours of the twenty four at the Municipal course are used in watering the greens. The other eighteen are used by golfers in blaming either the wet green or the dry green for putts that wouldn't drop.

Local Veterans Not Considering Hike To Capitol

Unlikely That Any From New Castle Will Take Part
In Demonstration

Although there has been considerable agitation in some circles during the past few days, in regard to forming a delegation of unemployed ex-service men to march to Washington, local veterans leaders asserted today that there seemed little likelihood that any from here would participate.

There are quite a number of veterans here who have been unemployed for some time, and are anxious to have some plan of relief adopted by congress for their benefit, but few of them are now considering leaving for Washington, it is stated.

W. C. T. U. Scores Andrew Mellon

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—Andrew W. Mellon, Ambassador to England, was soundly condemned for drinking intoxicants at public functions in London, and Amelia Earhart Putnam was warmly praised for her abstention, in a resolution the Women's Christian Temperance Union had adopted today.

A copy of the resolution was sent to President Hoover.

"Amelia Earhart Putnam, you will notice, took only water at the recent banquet in London," Sylvia Metcalf, spokesman for the Temperance organization, said.

"But the honorable Mellon had whisky and soda."

"President Hoover is supposedly dry, but his appointee, Mellon, is wet," she declared.

Mis Simplicity

So simple... and yet this unique garment contours the figure to lovelier lines. The clever diagonal "cross-pull" of the straps (that button in back) scientifically uplift the bust to a natural curve, flattens the diaphragm and abdomen, slenderizes the waistline and firmly persuades the body to correct posture.
